[e1] Have cell phones and social media made families closer? We would like to think that these modern inventions have accomplished the opposite,
[e2] however, it seems as though families are closer nowadays.
[e3] They stay in touch with each other throughout the day
[e4] and for those that live far apart, social media and unlimited cell phone plans have made it possible to have daily contact rather than waiting for special occasions.
[e5] Long distance rates no longer apply like they did when I was a child.
[e6] I can talk to my cousins whenever I like.
[e7] I have to admit though, that having the ability to communicate so freely does not mean that we do it.
