

[e1] Anyone who operating a vehicle should be strictly prohibited to use a cell phone in any capacity, unless its hands-free; which mean no phone calls, making or receiving, no texting, messaging, no surfing the web, viewing videos or photos and no playing games.

[e2] Being distracting by one's cell phone can significantly increase the chances of getting into a major car accident, cause harm to the driver, their passengers and other motorists on the road.

[e3] No matter who good a driver you might think you are, and you may feel that your paying attention well enough,

[e4] but the truth of the matter is, driving needs the driver's full attention.

[e5] Any caught driving while operating a cell phone should be punished with steep fines.
